

Capital PC User Group (CPCUG)

A Resource for Technology Users and IT Professionals

Learn about technologies outside your specialty:

- Programming
- Web development
- Handheld computing
- Computer and network security
- Hardware
- Statistics
- Investing
- Consulting and entrepreneurship
- MS Office (including Word, Excel, PowerPoint)
- And more

Through CPCUG, it's easy to develop new professional and personal resources:

- Network with other technology enthusiasts
- Benefit from valuable monthly meetings
- Call CPCUG's Helpline—get expert advice on dozens of computing and technology topics from scores of CPCUG volunteers
- Learn PC hardware/software capabilities, conflicts, and futures before buying or building your next computer, or computer network
- Build a PC with expert assistance in configuring and assembling, testing, and installing software
- Attend classes at discounted member-only prices
- Join or organize a CPCUG SIG (special interest group)—as many as you want!
- Volunteer with CPCUG: grow your leadership and/or management skills, building your professional networks, while sharing your knowledge and energy with your community

Established in 1982, and now 3,000 members strong, CPCUG is the Washington, DC, region's oldest and largest computer user group. CPCUG serves members and the community with seminars, publications, computer consulting, numerous monthly meetings, and special activities/projects. The organization's motto, "Users Helping Users," illustrates the belief that it's easier to use technology when help is available.

CPCUG annual membership dues (for the entire family) are only $42.

*With all the benefits, membership is a bargain! Join today!
